Shivakumar is socially responsible corporate citizen. He is also sensitive to the protection of environment and well being of the society around him. This is evident in his initiatives including the supplying free purified drinking water to villagers in Koppal district; encouraging sports activities and conducting eye & health camps.

aim would be to associate with various 'thought' leaders and 'think tanks' through varied initiatives.

High on Shivakumar's agenda through FKCCI include the need in creating good infrastructure for the trading community in the districts of Karnataka. These include good connectivity by road and rail; electricity availability; and proper distribution of electronic and financial services. This will facilitate movement of goods and produces from the talukas to the districts. The Government has also been notified on implementing e-Governance, initially at major trading centers and later to other interior regions. He has alerted the State Government on forecasting market trends of different commodities and publicizing them, as this would benefit the traders for planning out their market activities. Visiting and promoting membership in mofussil areas; organizing mega events and exhibitions in the area of agriculture and food processing; reforms in the power sectors, improvement in transmission and distribution of power; and awareness programmes to be conducted on retailing and tourism opportunities in Karnataka are some of ideas bouncing off his active mind.

His contribution for promoting agriculture and food processing, reforms in the power sectors, improvement in transmission & distribution of power and awareness programmes on retailing and tourism opportunities including safe guarding the interest of SME's have been very well recognised by the industrial captains.

Karnataka has emerged to be one of the most industrially developed States in India. The State has all it takes to stand out in India's industrial map. FKCCI under the leadership of Shivakumar as the President has carved many complimentary and supplementary efforts for the growth and development of the state.

Last Word

Karnataka has emerged to be one of the most industrially developed States in India. The State has all it takes to stand out in India's industrial map and the Government of Karnataka should continue focusing on development of industries, trade and service sectors. The State Government has to reassess the challenges thrown forth due to global economic recession, the falling rupee and the rising inflation to promote economic growth of Karnataka and sustain the momentum in the marathon race of developing Karnataka's economy.

Shivakumar is confident that through FKCCI's continuous programme for major development in the districts much can be achieved. Efforts have always been made by him and his team, to have regular interactions with the Presidents and Office Bearers of all District Chambers of Commerce and Industry and other Associations in the districts, towards identifying the critical needs of the trade and industry. He has always sought active participation of the members in all the programmes of FKCCI, to make it a grand success. Shivakumar has always had a quality innings in the many roles he has played so far and has set the bar higher for more.

His guidance while organizing exhibitions, trade shows, buyer-seller meets and catalogue shows for the benefit of FKCCI members and Karnataka will always be remembered. Under his leadership the balance sheet of FKCCI has maximized. He is an important facet of the Karnataka Vision program.
